SUMMARY OF THE REASONS FOR DECISION:

The magazine entitled Bound & Gagged Issue 64 is classified as:
Objectionable.

The magazine centres on the depiction and description of sexual activity, specifically bondage activity, between consenting adult males.

The magazine is deemed objectionable under s3(2)(b) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 (FVPC Act) because it tends to promote and support the use of coercion to compel any person to participate in, or submit to, sexual conduct. It does this primarily through the presentation of an article which describes an incident of such coercion and is accompanied by a glamourised and sexualised photographic image of a bound and gagged man. The article and accompanying image present an account of coercive sexual conduct in a manner which is intended to be sexually arousing to the reader. Thus, it is considered that the publication tends to promote and support the activity it describes.

The New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 (NZBR Act) has been considered in relation to this publication. As a deeming provision, s3(2) of the FVPC Act is evidence of Parliament's intention that publications to which those criteria apply should be banned. It is therefore not possible to give s3(2) an interpretation that is consistent with the freedom of expression contained in the NZBR Act. The classification of "objectionable" is the only restriction on the freedom of expression that is available to prevent injury to the public good, and which is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications such as Bound & Gagged Issue 64 should be banned.
